JOE O'CONNELL THRILLS 750 SPECTATORS IN WILD RIDE

Takes Ten-Mile Free-for-All in 9 Min.—Makes Great Race in 25-Mile Trial—Lane Wins 3-Miler for Old-timers

Things happened up at the fair ground yesterday afternoon that kept the big crowd out of their seats with excitement. The lust for speed was catered to in some of the best efforts in that line yet put over by the local motorcycle boys. There was a substantial crowd on the ground. It takes quite a few people to take the deserted look out of that vasty grandstand, yet yesterday's crowd managed to make quite a showing. There must have been 750 people on the stand, which was some incentive to the riders to do their best.

The feature event was, of course, the 25-mile race for stripped stock machines, in which a goodly crowd participated. There were real thrills as O'Connell gradually crept ahead of the others till the race seemed his, when suddenly at the eighteenth mile a valve let him down, and the race fell to Boido on his Indian who completed the twenty-five miles in 23½ min. Curly Thomas on his Indian came in second, followed by Harry Lane, riding his Harley-Davidson.

The ten-mile free-for-all for stripped stock machines was spectacular. O'Connell came in first in 9:10.2-5. Boido was second and Curly Thomas third. The unexpected came in the three-mile race for old-time machines, none newer than 1911. Harry Lane made the remarkably good time, under that class, of 4:7½. George Breuninger came in second.

The novelty was supplied in the pie-eating contest and the two-mile sack race. Byron Bellas' attack on his favorite chocolate pie was only equalled by his attack on the track records. In the sack-race Boido made the best time, whilst George Breuninger came in next best.

The five-mile race for fully equipped standard machines, ridden by owners, was interesting. In this Harry Crandall on his Merkel motor was first; Ben L. Roderow, Indian, second, and Lorenzo Boido, Indian, third. The opening event, a push-bike race for boys under 18 was won by George Dunphy's, who left the crowd something like a quarter-mile behind. The final event, an Australian pursuit race, was crowded out.

The judging was carried out by a crowd of the club members. Ed. Rudolph, James Barker and J. H. Magee were down as timers, and Dr. Boido filled the capacity of starter. There is some whisper of another such gathering some weeks from now. However, the club must meet in concave before anything is fixed.

LOCALS TAKE TWO CONTESTS FROM TUCSON

Hatch Holds Royals Hitless and Runless—In Second Session Errors Deprive Smiley of Shutout, But Phoenix Wins, Anyhow

(Special to the Republican)
TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 13.—By pitching shut-out ball in both games yesterday, Sid Hatch and Smoky Joe Smiley became the heroes of the games against two teams in the Ancient City here today and tonight will leave for Phoenix as the first actually triumphant team that has been sent to this section in many a year. The Phoenix team outclassed both the local teams from the call of the first ball. Two games were played, the first going seven and the second ten innings, but no fault attaches to Smiley because the game went an extra inning while he was officiating as the status of liberty out in the middle of the diamond.

Phoenix vs. Tucson Royals
Hatch pitched shut-out ball, showing splendid control and great fielding ability in the game against the Royals while his teammates backed him up with errorless ball. Not a single hit was made against the big Phoenixan, while no fizzle marred the fielding and backing accorded him by the visitors. The Royals were children at his hands. While all this was going on the Capital Cityans were pounding Alvarez four times, and with the assistance of three errors by the natives garnered three tallies.

The score:
Phoenix..... R. H. E.
Royals..... 0 0 3
Phoenix..... 3 4 0
Batteries: Alvarez and Padilla; Hatch and Cook.

Phoenix vs. Regulars
With Old Doerfforff opposing him on the slab, Joe Smiley pitched his team to victory in the second game, which went an extra inning. Nutt and Capt. Togneri put the ball over the left field fence for complete circuits of the bases, while five hundred fans saw the ruin of their hopes. Smiley was in splendid shape and only seven slip-ups as his portion of assistance from his townsmen sent the game the extra innings. At that he struck out nine men and gave transportation to two.

The score:
Phoenix..... R. H. E.
Tucson..... 4 14 3
Phoenix..... 7 9 7
Batteries: Doerfforff and Francis; Smiley and Cook.
The wind blew a perfect gale during both games.

AMUSEMENTS

An Excellent Orchestra
The orchestra plays the most important part in the routine program of a vaudeville house. The success or failure of the vaudeville acts hinges largely upon its work. The entertainment of the patrons for the period prior to the opening of the show falls to the lot of the orchestra, and it is due to them that the monotony of pantomime work in the "movies" is broken, and the silent drama becomes attractive, rather than otherwise.

The Empress orchestra is admirably fitted for the task, and has well they succeed is best judged by its ever increasing popularity with the house patrons, who are loud in their praise of its excellent work. Director Redewill has surrounded himself with the best musicians obtainable in the city, and everyone of them has seen long service in the "pit" of vaudeville theatres. His programs are selected with a view of meeting the popular demands, and it is a simple sequel of events nowaday that the Empress orchestra is playing the latest hits from the big tunes, simultaneously with their publication. He has arranged to have the "first run" sent him from several of the large publishers and is determined to keep the standard of his orchestra at the highest point.

Plaza Theatre
Alphonse Daudet achieved great fame as a novelist when he wrote "Sapho." This gave him a world-wide distinction, but he had a great following among literary Frenchmen before that time. Sapho has been dramatized and pictured, drawing great crowds every time it is played. Now comes an enterprising picture firm and pictures another "Sapho." The title under which this is done is "The Romance of an Outcast" and many say the picture is every bit the equal of the pictured Sapho. There are four reels of the picture and they will be shown at the Plaza today. There will be two other pictures.

The Wolf
No picture that has ever been seen in either the Savoy theatre or its successor the Arizona, comes up to the splendid presentation by the Lubin company of Eugene Walter's wonderful play, "The Wolf." Last night the playhouse was crowded with the elite of the city witnessing the screening of the really remarkable dramatization "an film" of the great American masterpiece. The story of the play is too well known to need any retelling, but its attractiveness as a problem drama is not one whit lessened, rather strengthened in its filming. It will be shown again tonight.

Giants-White Sox Tour
Today brings to the Lion the sixth and last installment of moving pictures of the Giants-White Sox World Tour and shows them in England. London's most important places are shown as well as royalty at a ball game. Long Beach and West End cottages at the seashore of New Jersey make the background of this week's Mutual Girl number, and is very interesting. The balance of the program at the Lion today is a two-reel Broncho entitled "Shorty Turns Judge" and a one-reel American drama called "Nature's Touch," making a program of unusual interest. Tomorrow Pathe's Semi-Weekly will be shown.

Ford Sterling Returns
Picture fans of Phoenix will unquestionably be pleased to learn that beginning with tonight Ford Sterling, identified with the Universal forces, will return to the Columbia as an added picture feature, and all of the recent comedies he has just appeared will be seen at the musical comedy playhouse.

For a while Ford Sterling was a prime favorite in Phoenix, but owing to some differences the Columbia changed its service, but with a change in the Universal district manager, the popular picture comedian will return to the popular playhouse.

The Animated Weekly, also a product of the Universal, will have first showing at the Columbia beginning with tonight, and many of the military scenes of Europe will be in evidence.

Although moving pictures are of secondary importance at the Columbia, the musical shows being the prime attraction, the service is the best obtainable, and positively first releases.

The Regale
Manager Cruckson of the Regale Theatre, 210-212 East Washington street, announced a day or two ago a Gold Seal three-reel drama, "Discord and Harmony," as the feature of that particular day's program. He failed to take into consideration, however, that sometimes railroad companies fail to deliver goods on schedule time and so it happened that it was all "discord" with the manager when the "Discord and Harmony" films failed to arrive. But they are here now, and will be shown at the Regale today as the biggest Monday feature ever shown at this popular moving picture house.

The story of the films, in which Nurdoock MacQuarrie and Pauline Bush assume the leading roles has already been told in the Republican. It is sufficient to say that it is a story well worth seeing and of that order that has made so many friends for the Regale. "Cartes Rival" will be the comedy offering, a most laughable story having been crowded into a Crystal film with not a dull foot in the film. Altogether today's offering at the Regale is quite notable.

LATEST BULLETIN OF OCEAN TO OCEAN ROADS

The latest road bulletin issued by Colonel Sellers of Albuquerque, president of the Ocean-to-Ocean highway association contains some interesting matter on the condition of the roads connecting with Phoenix. These bulletins are issued every week and are of great value to travelers along the highway. Colonel Sellers is one of the most enthusiastic road boosters in this section.

Road Bulletin
Hutchinson, Kans., Sept. 4, 1914.
The new Santa Fe trail is good through Kansas and tourists are numerous. H. H. Taylor.

Baton, N. M., Sept. 2nd. Roads from Trinidad to Las Vegas in very fair condition and getting better. Dry rain for several days. E. U. Sperry.
Wagon Mound, N. M., Sept. 3rd. Mora county roads all good. J. Frank Curran.

Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 8th. Road from Glorieta to Santa Fe and Santa Fe to Albuquerque in excellent condition. Harry T. Johnson.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 8th. Ocean to Ocean Highway, Albuquerque to Socorro and Magdalena, getting better every day. No more rain. D. K. B. Sellers.

Springerville, Ariz., Sept. 7th. Road from Magdalena good, with the exception of a short stretch at Blaines lake, twenty miles west of Quemado, where tourists have been having trouble in crossing a small arroyo, on account of mud and water. Dry weather will soon overcome the trouble. Road from Springerville to Holbrook, passable but not good. Gustave Becker.

Whitewater, Ariz., Sept. 4th. Ocean to Ocean Highway north dry and sections very good. Black Canyon dry but rough. Roads south of Whitewater good. Some washouts but all passable. Weather continues good and roads improving. E. R. McCrary, clerk in charge Ft. Apache agency.

Yuma, Ariz., Sept. 3rd. The Ocean to Ocean highway east and west of Yuma is very good. There has been no rain for some time. Some machines have stuck in the sand of Mammoth Wash but there is a team there to pull them out. J. A. Ketcherside.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Sept. 2nd. Road from Winslow to Flagstaff, good condition. Diablo Canon has been impassable for past three days. Water now falling. Passable tomorrow. Flagstaff to Ash Fork roads in splendid shape. J. W. Francis.

Grand Canyon, Ariz., Sept. 5th. Roads in fine condition between Grand Canyon and Ash Fork and also between Grand Canyon and Grandview hotel. Some rough spots between Grandview hotel and Flagstaff but mud all dried up and a little travel will soon wear it down. Rainy season about over. W. W. Bass.

MANAGER BARNCORD RETURNS FROM COAST

John Barncord, alkali manager and proprietor of the Lamara theater has returned from a short business visit to the Pacific coast where he went for the purpose of personally tying into the big exhibitors to handle exclusive high grade pictures for his popular house during the winter. That he succeeded beyond the wishes of his friends the fact that he will again show such masterpieces as Antony and Cleopatra and Quo Vadis, pictures the like of which have never been seen here, elsewhere than at Lamara, well testifies.

In addition to this he signed up for a two time per week service of the famous Pathe pictures and will show those pictures Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday's he will show the Alice Joyce series, and on Saturday another General feature. From this it can be judged that there will be a feature picture on at the Lamara every day of the week. His equipment is such that no picture in Phoenix comes up to his. He runs a union house altogether, and caters only to the best people in the city. A visit to the Lamara is always worth while. Today "The Phantom Thief" and "This is the Life", are being shown.

CONSTABLE IVY AS GOOD SAMARITAN

As Result of Runaway, Youth is Rendered Unconscious—Constable Ivy Passing in Car Takes Him in Hand

On his way home the other evening Constable Ivy came upon a youth lying unconscious in the wreckage of a cotton wagon, about nine miles west of Phoenix. Staying with the boy, Ivy sent his family on to their home to send the car back with some help. Although the hour was late, Ivy drove the boy, whose name is Alfred Tiller, right into his home on Seventh avenue in Phoenix, called the assistance of Dr. Dameron, and did not leave until he had seen the boy properly looked after.

The doctor found the injuries confined to a broken right leg, between the knee and the ankle; a bad cut across the eye and some serious bruises.

The boy's story of the accident is that he was driving a team in a heavy cotton wagon and frame, when the horses took fright and bolted, overturning the frame of the wagon, and breaking away from the wagon, throwing him to the ground. It seems that several people had passed without seeing the boy behind the wreckage. He had lain some time in the road before found by Constable Ivy. On inquiry later, the constable found the boy resting easily and on the road to recovery.
